

Danny Did Foundation Awarded #GivingTuesday Grant by CVS Caremark Charitable Trust

Funding is Part of CVS Caremark's #GivingTuesday Initiative to Celebrate the Spirit of Volunteerism

Chicago, IL – December 3, 2013 – The Danny Did Foundation today announced that it has received a $1,000 grant from the CVS Caremark Charitable Trust, a private foundation created by CVS Caremark Corporation, in honor of #GivingTuesday, a national movement when charities, individuals, schools, businesses and other community organizations come together on one day to create a national day of giving back. As part of CVS Caremark's #GivingTuesday initiative, CVS Caremark colleagues who volunteer their time were invited to nominate a local organization in their community to receive a grant from the CVS Caremark Charitable Trust.

CVS Caremark colleague Theresa Juday nominated Danny Did Foundation to receive funding from a total of $25,000 awarded to 25 non-profit organizations nationwide that were randomly selected to receive funding on #GivingTuesday (December 3).

"CVS Caremark colleagues bring our values of caring and collaboration to life all year long by volunteering with organizations that are helping the people we serve, every day and we wanted to honor them," said Eileen Howard Boone, President, CVS Caremark Charitable Trust. "We're excited to award deserving organizations like the Danny Did Foundation with funding as part of our #GivingTuesday initiative and are proud to be part of a national movement that promotes the spirit of volunteerism and giving back."

#GivingTuesday is a national campaign created in 2012 to spark a day of giving at the start of the annual holiday season, following Thanksgiving, Black Friday and Cyber Monday. It celebrates charities, individuals, schools, businesses and other community organizations who come together to support charitable causes, and encourages everyone to participate in a national day dedicated to giving back. #GivingTuesday aligns with the CVS Caremark Charitable Trust and its mission to make a positive impact in the lives of people by investing in local communities.

"#GivingTuesday is an important time to reflect on giving back and supporting the local community, whether it is through volunteerism or donations," said Tom Stanton, Danny Did executive director. "We are honored to receive this grant from the CVS Caremark Charitable Trust and we truly appreciate Theresa for her commitment to supporting our mission and to making a positive impact in the lives of people and families who face epilepsy."

About Danny Did Foundation

Founded by Chicagoans Mike and Mariann Stanton in January 2010 after the death of their four-year-old son Danny, the Danny Did Foundation works toward its mission to prevent deaths caused by seizures with these main goals in mind: advancing public awareness of epilepsy and Sudden Unexpected Death in Epilepsy (SUDEP), enhancing the SUDEP communication model between medical professionals and families afflicted by seizures, and the mainstreaming of seizure detection and prediction devices that may assist in preventing seizure-related deaths. We view these devices as complimentary to medicinal, surgical and dietary measures that are used to treat seizures. Epilepsy impacts nearly three million people in the United States and 65 million people worldwide. One in 26 Americans will develop epilepsy over their lifetime. Seizures can sometimes be fatal from a range of causes; more people die as a result of seizures than from fires and sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS) combined. Thousands of deaths occur annually from SUDEP, status epilepticus (prolonged seizures), and other seizure-related causes such as drowning and other accidents. Find more information at www.dannydid.org, www.facebook.com/DannyDid and www.twitter.com/dannydidorg. The name of the foundation originates from the last line of Danny's obituary, written by his dad: "Please go and enjoy your life. Danny did."
