All content in this publication is for informational purposes only. Do not make changes in medication, lifestyle, or seizure management without consulting your physician. No device system has been proven to prevent Sudden Unexpected Death in Epilepsy (SUDEP). The goal of Danny Did is to educate patients and their families about technology options that may compliment their epilepsy treatment plan. We do not manufacture or sell any products, nor do we endorse one system over another.

Danny Did has provided device grants for families in all 50 states.

Danny Did[®]
FOUNDATION

Founded by parents Mike and Mariann Stanton after the Sudden Unexpected Death in Epilepsy (SUDEP) of their son Danny at age 4, the Danny Did Foundation has the mission to prevent deaths caused by seizures. Danny Did takes its name from the last line of Danny’s obituary: Please go and enjoy your life. Danny did. We celebrate Danny’s spirit in every family we reach.

Protecting Kids With Epilepsy

Epilepsy and SUDEP

- Epilepsy can impact people of all ages, and is defined by the occurrence of two or more unprovoked seizures.
- 1 in 26 Americans will develop epilepsy. While most people with epilepsy live long and productive lives, sudden death is among the risks that can accompany seizures.
- Thousands of deaths occur annually from SUDEP, a fact that is little known by the public, and rarely disclosed by medical professionals. We encourage you to discuss all risks with your healthcare team.

“We wish we had been aware of seizure alert devices for Danny. To honor his life, we provide this grant program and help families access a device for their loved one. Everyone deserves the chance to protect their child.”
